

- Something bothering you, Mr. Arnold?
- My secretary told me I have bad breath, then she handed me a bottle of Scope.
- Good stuff, use it myself. First thing in the morning, my breath feels fresher for hours.
- She also told me while it would be keeping my breath fresh for hours, it would be killing germs for hours.
- It's a killer, all right.
- Look Eddie, you've been my barber for years, level with me, do I?
- Mr. Arnold, you're my oldest customer, but keep the Scope.
