

(man speaks in foreign language)

Translator: I learned that there is which I didn't know before, that there was so much injustice in the world. That is before, I lived my own life with the people close to me. I cared about my religion, my future, and I wasn't interested in anything else. Now today, I know what goes on in the world. And in Guantanamo, I met people of different nationalities. There were all gathered there, there were about 40 different nationalities over in Guantanamo. They were all touched by the same thing. And there one discovers another side of.

(man sobs) Would you like to take a break?

- No. (man speaks in foreign language)

Translator: I just wanted to say, there is an evil side of the world, of mankind.