

(clock ticking)

Narrator: It's nighttime. You've got a cold. You've been taking things all day to relieve those cold miseries. And now you're taking them at night. Something to relieve this. Something to dry up that. But what you really want is just one thing that relieves all your worst cold misery so you can get to sleep. That's why Vicks invented NyQuil. Powerful new cold medicine you take at night. One ounce. Sipped at bedtime. Fights all your worst cold miseries for hours. NyQuil fights sniffles and sneezes, runny nose and nasal congestion, aches and pains, and scratchy throat. So you can relax and get what you want most. Some sleep. That way you'll be worth something in the morning. Next time you have a cold, let NyQuil do the fighting. You do the sleeping. NyQuil: the night fighter from Vicks. It's got everything.