

- I'm Henry Scutter, I'm a range repairman, and I don't make a lot of money. But in 1950 I started buying stock. Invested to dividends, gains, added a little, got into a mutual fund. Today I've got investments worth over $100,000. So when I get talking about the market, I'm just like a doggone missionary.

Announcer: Ask your broker. He knows the market. He can show you why in the long run it's the best place for your money.
