

Announcer: Yogi Berra at the plate. (crowd cheering wildly) It's a homerun! Let's meet Berra in the clubhouse.

- Folks, meet Yogi Berra, the star catcher for the New York Yankees. And Yogi, nice game.

- Thanks Bud. How did you know I want orange juice?

- Why that's easy. Out there today, you burned up a lot of vitamin C and energy and now you need to replace it. So, you really crave orange juice and that craving is your body wisdom.

- My what?

- Your body wisdom. Because vitamin C's the one vitamin the body can't store, your body wisdom tells you when you need more. Now orange juice with breakfast is just not enough for active people. They need an extra glass or two later.

- Thank goodness for the convenience and low cost of fresh frozen orange juice packed with Florida sunshine. It has everything: vitamin C, quick energy and that wonderful Florida flavor. Make an extra pitcher full every day.