Narrator: Four children under six and now triplets sure makes a house full for the Paul Handy's of South Burlington, Vermont.

Woman: Well, it was hard in the beginning and still hard now, but they're worth it. Paul helps me feed the kids sometimes. He's pretty good at it. I raised my first four on Beech-Nut baby food. Never had a feeding problem. So I'm using it for the triplets now. They like the Beech-nut. I just line them up and spoon it in. They really go for the Apple Sauce. I guess it must really taste good to them.

Narrator: Beech-Nut Apple Sauce does taste extra good because the apples are cooked in their skins for extra flavor.

Woman: All my kids enjoy their meals and I know they're getting everything that's good for them.

Narrator: All babies eat best when they enjoy their meals and they get the nourishment they need without coaxing. That's why Beech-Nut caters to your baby's taste.
