

- Have I got news for you. A brand new cereal from the Post people, Post Cereal people, you know? Well, they got this great new invention that let them pack peaches right inside a box of Corn Flakes. No kidding, real slices of real peaches right inside here. See 'em? Oh boy, if this isn't the peachiest cereal you ever saw, I'll eat my... (laughs) I'll eat the Corn Flakes & Peaches if you don't mind. Imagine getting crispy, crunchy Post Corn Flakes with peaches already in them. Luscious, mouth-watering peaches, all peeled and sliced and fresh freeze-dried. Pour on milk, and they get plump and juicy again. Now we can have peaches the whole year round. Oh boy, let me at 'em.

- Mm, delicious!

Announcer: What a mouthful.

- Believe me, there's never been anything like this before. Can't you just see your family's eyes light up when they pour out the Corn Flakes and find sliced peaches already in there with them? So write it right down, right? The name is (mumbles)

- That's Post Corn Flakes & Peaches, another wonderful new fruit-in-the-box cereal from Post. Try Post Corn Flakes & Strawberries, too.