

- Pregnant women can't keep up with your son. Nobody can keep up with a two year old. Time to change you.
- Pampers? I thought cloth was better?
- Definitely not, Janet. I'd never used anything, but Pampers and special quilted lining keeps him a lot drier.
- Drier than cloth?
- You bet and I've tried both. A cloth diaper is just a piece of cloth, it stays wet, but Pampers quilted lining adds a layer of dryness between the wet padding and your baby's skin.
- Really?
- If you wet both, wait a minute and slip in a blotter. You'll see Pampers special quilted lining keeps your baby's skin a lot drier than cloth.
- And dry has gotta feel better.
- It sure does.

Narrator: Pampers quilted lining keeps babies drier than cloth doesn't you or baby deserve Pampers dryness?
