- Usually the punishment comes to us when we resist some of the search methods. Like female guards come in and when they search, when they are taking us to the shower and things like that, they touch our private parts. Also they could just search us without doing so. And then when don't do that they shout and they bang the doors. And then one time actually, when they were giving breakfast it's supposed to give the plate with the food. The guard gave him empty plate. There's nothing just empty plate. And he said, "Where's my food?" And the guard says, "This is for you. This is your food." So he just took the plate, this empty plate there's nothing on it. No plastic utensils or no food, nothing just empty plate. And he just sat there patiently didn't have his breakfast. Everybody else was eating and he just sat there. And then after, when they came back to pick up the trash, he gives the plate back and the guard says, "Where's the spoon?" "Well, you didn't give me spoon, you just give me the plate." He says "No, I gave you the spoon. Give the spoon back." And he says, "I don't have the spoon, you didn't give me a spoon." And he wanted to search the cell and he didn't let him. He says, "I'm not going to let you search because you didn't give me a spoon." And he called for the captain, the person in charge or the translator. He wanted to speak to them. And then finally, they came with the translator. It was an elder gentleman that was the incident was after I left, actually. So the elder gentleman came in and the translator tried to talk him into let them search. And he kept saying, "No, he didn't, the guard didn't give me food. The guard didn't give me food and the spoon and now he's asking for spoon, he wants to search, I'm not going to let him." And the translator tried to talk him into letting them search. He says, "If you don't, then they're going to beat you up and they're going to be harsh on you. So please just come out so they can search your block." He said, "No, I'm not going to come out." And then they called all the 20-30 guards to come and forcefully get him up. So he says, "I'm not coming out." He was stubborn. He went on his bed and lied down there. He just lied on his bed. And the person who's not resisting the fight, or he's lying quietly on the bed, they came in and they sprayed him. They sprayed the block with the gas and then sprayed him and all that. And then he was getting nauseated with that. And then they sprayed some chemical on the top of like a dish towel. And then on the on the towel and put it on his face, rubbing on his face, putting on his mouth. And then, actually the 20, 30 guards, there was a psychologist. And then the person in charge and translator, everybody was there. And then they beat him up and they dragged him out of his cell block, and cut him up, undressed, took all his clothes off. He was only wearing underwear. And then he was trying to spit on the guards and he was trying to fight, but he's all shackled up. They tied him up. So many people around him and then he was just fighting. He says, "I tried to spit. It's not going to reach them. But I was fighting and spitting on people and stuff." And the psychiatrist says, "He's going crazy. He's mentally, he's not stable. So we need to put him in the mental block." The place that they keep all the people who's mentally, having mental problems. So they brought him to Delta, which is a mental, a place that they keep people with mental problems. And then when they brought him there he was absolutely naked. And they took all his clothes, underwear, everything off. There's no sheets, no towels in the cell block, just the isle mat. It's a thin piece of rubber mat. So he was trying to put that around his private parts. And then he was knocking the camera, asking them to come in, to give him some clothes, to give him underwear, he was cold. And they wouldn't give him clothes and he couldn't sleep. And then this Arab guy next to him, gave him an idea, taught him something. He says, "If you try to create the big problem then they will come and pay attention" because he was trying to call for the person in charge. He wanted to talk to somebody, but nobody would come in. They just left him there and nobody would come in and speak to him. Nobody would do anything. And then the Arab guys says, "If you try to kill yourself, you try to do something then they will come right away." So he found something that he can try to hang himself. So he put that up and he pretend like he was trying to hang himself. When they see that on camera, they showed up immediately. They came in right away and then they sprayed him again. And then they give him shot and he was sort of passed out. (speaks foreign language)
