

(cheering)

Announcer: That's it. A typical Notre Dame finish.

- And folks, here's Notre Dame's coach, Terry Brennan. Terry, it seems that Notre Dame makes a habit out of putting the pressure on the other team during the second half.

- Well we try to be up, Bud, when the other team is tiring if we can.

- Tell me, Terry, how do you stand all this strain?

- Well I find that it helps to have an orange during the day when that tension tends to build up.

- Balance is important for the coach as well the team to stay fit.

- You know after a hard workout or a tough game, I really crave an orange.

- Well you know some of your professors can tell you that craving is your body wisdom.

- Body wisdom. Oh yes, I've heard of that.

- Sure you have. Right now it's your body wisdom telling you to replace the vitamin C and energy you just used up. So today, get fresh Florida oranges. They give you extra juice, extra vitamin C, extra flavor. Today's best fruit buy, packed with Florida sunshine.